

Letter of Reference for Marc Vidal 2025 Internship

To Whom It May Concern,

It is my pleasure to offer a letter of recommendation for Marc Vidal who interned with DecisivEdge LLC from June to September, demonstrating exceptional talent, dedication, eager for growth and learning.

Throughout his internship, Marc successfully developed and deployed several key features and improvements that had a direct and positive impact on our real customers. His contributions were not limited to execution; he frequently made novel suggestions and improvements to our product processes, showcasing a proactive and innovative mindset that greatly benefited our team.

Beyond his technical skills, Marc proved to be an excellent communicator, with the ability to articulate himself successfully with all levels of stakeholders. He also took impressive accountability for his own learning and achievements, as well as for any mistakes, viewing them as opportunities for growth. This maturity we found to be a rare and valuable quality for an intern.

What really stood out for us was that Marc showed tremendous growth, rapidly learning entire technology stacks he had never encountered before in a short time to become effective as quickly as possible. Furthermore, Marc played a key role in assisting our company in exploring and implementing AI solutions to improve overall company productivity, demonstrating an eye for future- forward strategies.

Marc is a highly motivated, intelligent, and responsible individual who would be a valuable asset to any team. I am confident that he will continue to excel and make significant contributions in any professional environment.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you require any further information.

Sincerely,

Michael Frayler
